

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

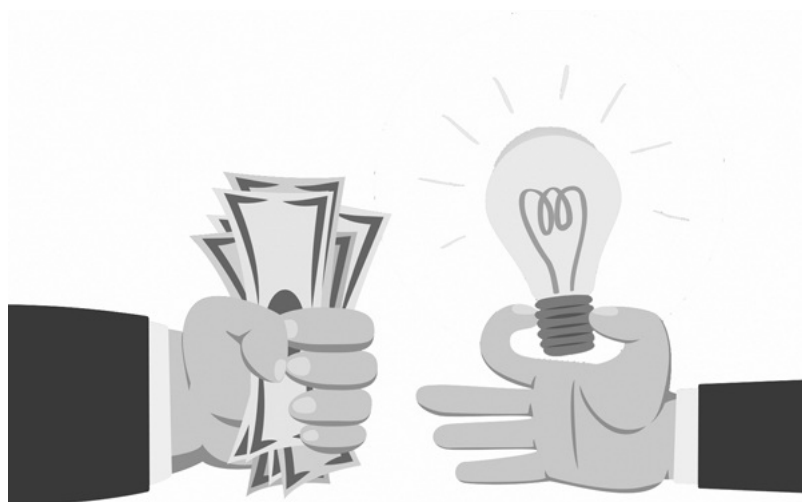

CONTENT

- Let's Start!
- Let's Explore!
- Let's Practice!
- Extension Activity
- Target Words
- Learning Points

Let's Start!

Just give me a chance!

Learning Outcome

Discuss factual and abstract information about common everyday or job related topics in both work and social contexts appropriate for the interlocutor

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs, professions and careers.
- I can talk about my experiences.
- I can talk about my academic studies and my work in various time frames.

Ask your partner:

- Do you feel comfortable talking about yourself to people you don't know very well? Why or why not?
- Do you think it's important to "sell" your ideas? Why or why not?

Let's Explore!

Adam finally meets Mr. Brody and talks about his people skills.

* "People skills" are the things you do to work well with people, like active listening or cooperating.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Boris: Young man, I don't think you got the point. We are currently not hiring.
- Adam: Mr. Brody, my name is Adam Bari and I have recently graduated from college with a degree in communications and ...
- Boris: Did you just hear what I said? I am also a bit pressed for time.
- Adam: After chatting with your secretary, I realized that you have a hectic schedule Mr. Brody. Before asking me to leave, I want to take one minute of your time to introduce myself and explain how my diverse skills enable me to make a valuable contribution to your company.
- Boris: Ok, fine. Before starting, I have to tell you: you have 60 seconds. I hope you do not waste my time.
- Adam: My name is Adam Bari and I have recently graduated from college with a degree in communications. While completing my studies, I worked on the college newspaper as a reporter, and eventually, as the editor of the art section. While being new to professional writing, I have been published in 5 medium-circulation publications over the last year. Before doing that, I also worked for an independent paper and an award-winning magazine known as The News Gazette.
I have a knack for making communications materials that are highly readable and inspired by international people and cultures. I'm talented at working with diverse teams, and for these reasons I'm looking for a position that uses my people skills as well as my writing skills to engage others in cultural and meaningful exchanges.
- Boris: Before continuing with your elevator speech, I must say I am deeply impressed. What kind of work are you looking for exactly?
- Adam: I'm looking for a job that will put my skills as a journalist to work.
- Boris: Let's go into my office so we can chat a bit more.

Let's Practice!

Adam gives the elevator speech to Mr. Brody.

Instructions: Mark all the correct answers.

Which of the following sentences are in the Simple Past tense?

- ☐ We are currently not hiring.
- ☐ I am not sure you understand what I am saying.
- ☐ I recently graduated from college.
- ☐ I am also a bit pressed for time.
- ☐ I have to tell you that you've got 60 seconds and I hope you don't waste my time.
- ☐ I realized that you have a hectic schedule Mr. Brody.
- ☐ I want to take one minute of your time.
- ☐ I also worked for an independent paper and an award-winning magazine known as "The News Gazette".

Let's Practice!

Adam asks Mr. Goldstein for help.

Instructions: Read the sentences below and circle the incorrect words.

1. I reckon to you have helped many people like me in the past.
2. I imagine you been have seen from my résumé that I worked as a copy editor and proofreader at a campus newspaper, where I also sold advertising space.
3. I suppose you have be thought of ways of promoting a candidate's written work.
4. I assume you have going facilitated several jobs applications before.
5. I imagine you are have established yourself to be one of the top headhunters in the field.

Extension Activity

Help someone improve their elevator pitch.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Find a partner who prepared an elevator pitch for the last lesson, or find an elevator pitch online.
- Decide what you like and don't like about it.
- Prepare a T-chart. Draw a large T on a page of paper. On the left side of the T, put the things you like about the pitch. On the right side, put the things you don't like.
- Write a new and improved pitch for the same person.
- Read the new pitch aloud.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I read an elevator pitch.

☐ ☐

I give feedback on an elevator pitch (positive and negative).

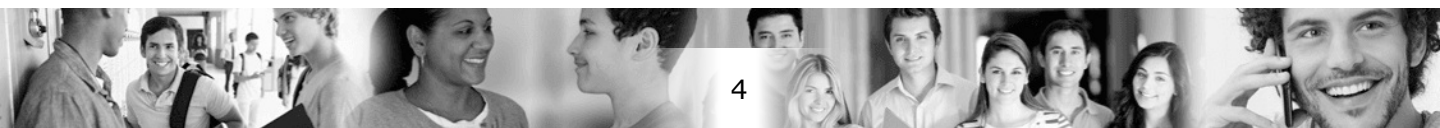

☐ ☐

I write a new and improved elevator pitch.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to get the point (expression): to understand
e.g. Young man, I am not sure you got the point, but we are currently not hiring.
- to graduate from (verb): to finish a program of study
e.g. Mr. Brody, my name is Adam Bari and I have recently graduated from college with a degree in communications.
- a degree in (expression): the area of your studies
e.g. I have recently graduated from college with a degree in communications.
- pressed for time (expression): busy; hurried e.g. I am also a bit pressed for time.
- a hectic schedule (expression): many things to do e.g. I realized that you have a hectic schedule Mr. Brody.
- to enable (verb): to allow; to permit
e.g. My diverse skills enable me to make a valuable contribution to your company.
- valuable contributions (expression): something that is done or given that helps the team or company a lot e.g. I can make a valuable contribution to your company.
- professional writing (noun): writing for a specific profession
e.g. While being new to professional writing, I have been published in 5 medium-circulation publications.
- circulation (noun): the number of copies of each edition of a newspaper that are printed e.g. Adam has been published in 5 medium-circulation publications over the last year.
- to have a knack for (expression): to be good at e.g. I have a knack for making communications materials that are highly readable.

Learning Points

Let's Contrast: Simple Present, Present Continuous, Simple Past and Present Perfect

You use different tenses to refer to different time frames.

You use the Simple Present tense to talk about:

1. a repeated or usual action
2. a truth
3. scheduled events in the near future

For example:

I want to take one minute of your time to introduce myself.

You use the Present Continuous tense to talk about:

1. actions or events happening NOW
2. temporary actions
3. definite future plans
4. changing situations

For example:

I am not sure you got the point, but we are currently not hiring.

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about:

1. finished events or actions in the past
2. several finished events in the past (a list)
3. duration of a past event

For example:

After chatting with your secretary, I realized that you have a hectic schedule, Mr. Brody.

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about:

1. an action that happened at an unspecified time in the past
2. past experiences
3. accomplishments

For example:

My name is Adam Bari and I have recently graduated from college with a degree in communications.

Learning Points

Expressing Time: -ing Clauses

You can use -ing clauses to express time.

A clause is a part of a sentence with its own subject and verb. You can use verb+ing in a clause to refer to when something happens.

For example:

Chatting with your secretary, I realized that you have a hectic schedule, Mr. Brody.

You can also use an -ing form after ever since, since, after, before, while, when, whenever.

For example:

Before starting, I have to tell you that you've got 60 seconds and I hope you don't waste my time.

Examples:

- While completing my studies, I worked on the college newspaper as a reporter, and eventually, as the editor of the art section.
- While being new to professional writing, I have been published in 5 medium-circulation publications over the last year.

